ARTERIAL BLOOD MADE TO RUN THROUGH VEIN

Beth Israel Surgeons Save Car penter's Remaining Leg From Amputation.

MAN GOT $25 FOR HIS BLOOD

Then Dashed to Wife With Money, and Had to Return for Treatment.

Beth Israel Hospital reported vesterday that two surgical operations of interest had been performed there.

By one, the joining of an artery and a vein, arterial blood was made to flow permanently through the vein and saved from amputation the left leg of a car penter whose right leg was amputated hree years ago. This is said to be the first successful operation of this kind.

for weeks, got $25, which so excited him that he ran home through the streets to his wife and had to be returned to the hospital for treatment.

The carpenter who unexpectedly is left with one sound leg is Isidor Kaplan of 17 Union street, Trenton, N. J. His ailment was endarteritis obliterans, literally a dying of the artery which supplied the leg with blood, with consequent dying of the leg itself because of lack of nutriment.

The ordinary method of treatment has been amputation. Three years ago Kaplan's right foot was amoutated at the University of Pennsylvania Hospital. As the disease progressed along the artery from the foot up there were two more amputations, the last one just below the

The man who saved a woman by blood transfusion is Max Sekzer of 210 Eldridge street, who has a wife and three children. On July 18 he learned from an advertise.

On July 18 he learned from an advertisement in a Jewish paper that Beth Israel Hospital would give "adequate compensation" to a man willing to help a woman in a sad extremity. He applied at the hospital and was accepted.

The woman patient, Mrs. Sarah Mass of 149 Broome street, mother of four children, had lost so much blood through progressive hemorrhage caused by a gastric ulcer that the red globules were reduced to 19 per cent. From the normal 100. The surgeons tried blood trans-100. The surgeons tried blood transfusion and the usual results of successful transfusion followed Dr. Goodman believes that Mrs. Mass will recover entirely.

Called to Situation.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., July 29 .- The large purchase of Springfield rifles in this city to-day by miners aroused considerable interest. At least 100 rifles were seen on the streets of this city his afternoon, carried by men bound for the trains leading to the strike territory. The attention of the militia authorities and Gov. Glasscock was called to this condition to-night.

It was also discovered to-day that Private Ullman, one of the members of a local militia company, who had been in Cleveland, yearing of the call for troops, returned, and thinking his company was on Paint or Cabin Creek, started up Cabin Creek with four young men. He was captured by ten of the mine guards and taken before Justice of the Peace Crawford, where, according to an affidavit he made to-night, he was searched and released on payment of $2 and ordered to retrace his tracks. Ullman reached Peytona, where his com-

Orozco Says His Relative and Madero's Brother Are Business Associates.

El. Paso, Tex., July 29.—Abandoning all they have worked years to accumulate, some of them bringing a few cooking utensils and rolls of bedding, some escaping only with the clothing they wore nearly a thousand American women and children, mostly Mormons, have poured into El Paso since midnight last night refugees from the rebels in Mexico, robbed of their last means of self-protection when the rebels confiscated their household firearms and ammunition. Another trainload is coming to-night. Many of them, driven from comfortable homes, find themselves compelled to live in tents on reaching El Paso Hotels and boarding houses are aiready overcrowded with refugees from the trouble zone.

Mayor Kelly and county officials of El Paso to-day appealed to the United States for aid and Senator Fall had the Senate pass a measure instructing the War Department to give what aid is needed. The House will take up the matter to-morrow.

This afternoon the Chamber of Com-

Ins afternoon the Champer of Com-merce held a mass meeting and heard the stories of the refugees and took steps to aid them. All the refugees blame the United States and its "weak foreign pol-icy," as they term it, for the present situation.

Not only have the Mormons suffered, but all Americans in the rebel zone have felt the rebel hand of oppression since Saturday night, when the rebels issued their first orders to the Americans to bring in their arms and surrender them. At Madera, Pearson, Corralitos and the Dolores mines all Americans have received the same treatment. The Americans are able to get out of all these places except Dolores, where the rebels, having seized all horses and mules of the Dolores Mining Company, have shut off all means of escape to the Americans, who are several days horseback ride from a railroad. The lumber mills of the Pearson Company at Madera were closed to-day and the mill at Pearson is expected to close to-morrow. All the women and children were sent out of Madera last week; those in Pearson and at Corralitos came to-day. Only the men remain. The men at Madera will probably arrive here to-morrow and the big plant of the Madera company will be left alone.

Considerable discussion was aroused over the question of fumigating all ships it hat entered all ports. The resolutions as originally drawn provided for the fumigation of all ships irrespective of the known health conditions at the point of departure, but considerable opposition was brought up on the ground of interference with commerce.

In view of the announcement made here that one infected rat had been found after many days of rigid inspection, Dr. I. L. McGlasson, quarantine officer of Galveston, Tex., advised the fumigation of all vessels from this port.

Dr. White of the Marine Hospital Service took the position that the fumigation of ships out of New Orleans was unnecessary. With the precaution that has been taken here to prevent the spread of infection, he declared such a step would be an injustice to the port and would tend to throttle information regarding the existing conditions in other garding the existing conditions in other cities.

Lackawanna Issues New Rule About Hours When Of Duty.

Officials of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western have taken issue with the idea that so long as a railroad man abstains from intoxicating drinks while on duty the business entrusted to him is reasonably safe. They are convinced that the only safe thing for a railroad man to do is to let intoxicants alone altogether and to keep away from the places where they are sold.

As a result a new rule has been made prohibiting the use of intoxicants while on or off duty or the visiting of saloons or places where liquor is sold.

SPECIAL EDUCATIONAL ARTICLES The New York SUN will publish a series of educational articles beginning Saturday. August 3, and will be continued on every succeeding Saturday until October 5.

August 3

The school problem as the parent faces it. Individuality in schools. Some traditions of American schools and the arguments advanced in favor of each of the several types of preparatory institutions. The article will aim to acquaint the reader with actual conditions in the preparatory school world so that he will be able intelligently to judge where to send a boy or girl to insure a certain educational bent.

August 10 The boarding school and its advantages. The article will be devoted to schools outside New York city and for boys. It will endeavor to present the essential characteristics of half a dozen of America's most famous schools for boys.

August 17 Schools for girls outside New York city will be considered, their methods illustrated and their advantages summarized. August 24 The article will be confined to military schools, of which it will treat with reasonable detail. The basis of the military school idea will be analyzed and the success of this type of preparatory institution will be estimated. August 31 Schools of the Roman Catholic Church will receive a special article describing their work and growth and appraising to some extent their special value.

September 7 Preparatory schools for boys in the city will be the theme of the article, and both boarding and day schools will be considered.

September 14 The line of the preceding article will be followed within the same limits, but girls' schools will be dealt with. September 21

Schools for special purposes are to be treated in two articles, of which this will be the first. It will be confined to business, accountancy and commercial schools and will describe not only their methods and achievements but will explain in some measure the secret of their growth and popularity. Their efficiency, which has been attacked, will be gauged, and both sides of the argument will be carefully explained.

September 28

The second of the two articles on special schools will treat chiefly of schools of music, but other highly individualized institutions will receive consideration. The concluding article of the series will deal with the preparatory school in its relation to the college and university. This consideration will be broad and well in perspective. The question of whether the preparatory school and the university are generally well hitched, a big subject of debate at present, will be seriously entered into and a final estimate of the success of our schools
